Thank you to everyone who took the survey! We’re glad to learn that most students are pleased with our services and resources. In almost all categories, you gave ratings of either excellent or good. However, there are several areas of concern to students, including issues with wireless printing, and undergraduates using the library. Our planned responses to these concerns and a number of other issues are highlighted below, and discussed in detail at the survey results website: http://tinyurl.com/dufour-survey.

- Wireless printing: the library staff is researching ways to streamline network access and wireless printing, but new methods must conform with University requirements.
- We are working with the law school administration to address the issue of undergraduates using the library as a study hall. In the meantime, we ask that law students help by always using their Cardinal Cards to enter the law library.
- An additional student lounge will be created on Floor 2 (Summer 2016).
- Additional casual seating will be added throughout the library (Summer 2016).

Audio Study Aids

In response to student requests, the library has expanded its collection of audio study aids. We have a number of titles from both the Law School Legends (Gilberts) collection, and the Sum and Substance series, in MP3 format where available. In addition to all the 1L course topics, subjects covered include Criminal Procedure, Evidence, and Professional Responsibility, to name a few. You’ll find them in the Reference Room with the rest of our skills collection. They can be borrowed for one week with one renewal. Diversify your study strategies and learn on the go!
