The Law Library recently improved access to a number of resources that can assist faculty, students, and others who are interested in the rich history of The Catholic University School of Law.

The Library’s guide to its Archives and Special Collections now contains sections which bring together articles discussing the School’s history, photographs depicting the many changes the school has experienced, and links to University resources such as the digitized copies of The Tower going back to 1922 and copies of The Cardinal Yearbook going back to 1916.

Materials will continue to be added to this guide on an ongoing basis, however we encourage faculty to let us know if there are resources which should be included.

Library Survey

This month the Law Library will be distributing a survey to the Law School faculty. The survey will address a number of different areas including Library services, Library resources, technology, and audio-visual support.

The last time the Law School faculty were surveyed by the Library was in 2013 (the law students are surveyed biennially). In response to the information gathered by the 2013 survey we were able to implement a number of initiatives such as this newsletter, additional LibGuides on services and research, and improve instructions and support for A-V equipment in the classrooms. With your assistance this year’s survey will also prove valuable and will help us to provide you with a better level of service and resources.
