This fall the Law Library added a new series of materials to the Law School’s Scholarship at CUA Law institutional repository; Events, Lectures and Conferences. This new component includes the following series:

- Brendan F. Brown Lecture Series
- Dean William Callyhan Robinson IP Lecture Series
- Faith In Action Lecture Series
- Law & Public Policy Lecture Series
- Mirror of Justice Lecture Series
- Pope John XXIII Lecture Series
- Securities Law Program Lecture Series
- Student Scholar Series

In addition, the symposia for the Catholic University Law Review and the Journal of Law and Technology have been captured in this collection, as well as a variety of occasional lectures and events. For each of these events we have attempted to provide, when possible, the video of the event, a summary of the proceedings, and the flyer promoting the event. Due to the availability of materials, certain series are more complete than others. Additional lecture series will be added in the near future.

Federal Judicial Center Integrated Database (IDB)

Earlier this year, the Federal Judicial Center (FJC) released to the public a new database which will be of interest to those who work with empirical legal information. The FJC, under a working arrangement with the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts (AOUSC), now provides free public access to its Integrated Data Base (IDB). The IDB contains data on civil case and criminal defendant filings and terminations in the district courts, along with bankruptcy court and appellate court case information. The FJC receives regular updates of the case-related data that are routinely reported by the courts to the AOUSC. The FJC then post-processes the data, consistent with the policies of the Judicial Conference of the United States governing access to these data, into a unified longitudinal database, the IDB. An interactive query function allows selection of subsets of civil cases based on federal circuit, district, nature of suit, disposition, origin, jurisdiction, class action designation, filing date, termination date, and docket number. Annual case filing and termination datasets through 2016 for civil, criminal defendant, appellate, and bankruptcy cases also can be downloaded in SAS format.
